

SPRINGBROOK

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: March 3, 2008

CONTACT: Joe Kavale, Assistant Project Manager, Springbrook Properties, Inc., 503-537-2000 or joe.kavale@springbrookproperties.com; or Olga Haley, Leopold Ketel & Partners, 971-244-0661 or olga@leoketel.com

Springbrook Properties Hires Blane Hansen as Construction Manager

NEWBERG, Ore. – Springbrook Properties has hired Blane Hansen as construction manager for The Allison, Oregon Wine Country's Premier Inn & Spa. During the year and a half construction phase, Hansen will serve as the owners' representative, performing all audit functions.

Hansen has spent the majority of his professional construction management career in the Northwest. For the past decade he served as senior project manager for Shimizu America Corporation in Portland, Ore., where he supervised all project managers, engineers and superintendents. Prior to that he worked as project manager for several other companies including Yorke & Curtis, Inc. in Portland; Chase Construction Company in Newport Beach, Calif.; and Brinderson Corporation in Irvine, Calif.

Hansen received a bachelor of science degree from California Polytechnic University in Pomona, Calif., and holds a general contractor's license in California, Oregon and Washington.

Construction on The Allison is scheduled to be completed by late spring of 2009.

Springbrook is a 450-acre development located in northeast Newberg, Ore., about 45 minutes southwest of Portland. The property is owned by Oregon entrepreneur and philanthropist Joan Austin and her family. The decade-long project will include The Allison, a luxury inn and spa, a restaurant, retail village, 1,200 homes and townhomes, ample recreational trails and green spaces. For more information on Springbrook, contact Joe Kavale, assistant project manager, 503-537-2000 or visit www.springbrookproperties.com.

###